Other Bits: WOW! The last Coves Chats program for the year was another great one!! Chief Mark Nugent, Coordinator of Middlesex Emergency Services, entertained and educated the audience with his engaging talk which included “his” Top 10 Safety Tips. October is Fire Prevention Month and Chief Nugent, who had served in the Chesterfield County Fire Department for many years, held the audience spellbound with his extensive knowledge and stories from his years as a firefighter.

One of his most important gems of wisdom was to encourage everyone to buy the new smoke alarm with the 10-year battery, # 1 on his list. The rest of the list included: develop and practice a home escape plan, always wear your seatbelt, stay in the kitchen when cooking, post your house number so all numbers are visible from the road, perform home fire inspections twice a year, place burning candles in a large glass container away from curtains and combustibles, dispose of fireplace ashes in a metal container with a tight lid, learn to perform CPR, sign up for the Everbridge Alert System on the county website.

Chief Nugent filled our round table with information handout and several items for children, including firefighter hats. We are most grateful that Chief Nugent is a member of the Middlesex First Responder Team and that he made time in his schedule for our Chats program.

Reminders from our Water/Sewer:

The health of the sewer and septic field depends on what is disposed of in your sewer system. Therefore, if you haven't put it in your mouth don't put it in the toilet.
